Standing Ground

Globally Oriented Advertising

We have changed some of our website content formatting and with our open and close indicator, So therefore some things may seem out of line or off centered it maybe your viewing browser. Some browsers will allow the open/closed indicator content to move back and fourth. We are also currently moving page layout around there maybe some open large space / gaps spacing between content. This is planned for special announcements, notes, public notification, etc.

We are still currently adding our own creativity banners and will be changing landing pages, different websites, products, etc,within creative image / design. We'll notify you with time,date, location on the note pad when rotation takes place.

Some of the culture language content and links will be expiring soon and will be taking them down by December 21 st 2018. We will replace them with new culture content and landing page, when or if available within same location.

Spiritual beliefs from the brightest stars to distant places, to the bells of the sleigh

Ho Ho Ho, wishing you all a happy holiday.
